Venue map

Explore DiscoveryLab

Science Studio

Let your creativity flow as art meets science! Learn about aerodynamics and how things balance in our hands-on crafty activities.

Exploratorium

Little scientists can explore through play in this space designed for 3–4-year-olds, with engaging story time sessions and fun arts and crafts!

Curiosity Corner

Expand your mind while enjoying our mini-science cinema, enjoy The Playroom exhibition by artist John Brown or take a break from the excitement in our Quiet Space.

Power Plant

Get ready to experience a real lightbulb moment! Discover the science behind electricity and experiment with green energy of the future.

Construction Yard

It's time to tinker! Put your building skills to the test with a series of fun construction challenges, and design and race your very own land yacht.

Sponsor

Cirrus Logic is proud to support the Edinburgh Science Festival as it provides hands-on opportunities to explore how science, technology, and creativity can shape the future for all. cirrus.com

Workshop Times

We are operating a standby queue at each workshop throughout the day – if there is availability in the session, children aged 5–11 may enjoy workshops in addition to their pre-booked space.

Accessibility at City Art Centre

DiscoveryLab is a vibrant and exciting space that at times may be overwhelming for some people. We have sensory backpacks and ear defenders available free of charge at the box office on the ground floor, and a Quiet Space on the third floor where you can take a breather from the noise. These are open to all, particularly visitors with autism or other sensory needs.

Don't miss our programme of family shows throughout the Festival, including:

Beastlands with Jess French – Sat 12 Apr

The Rocket Show – Sun 13 Apr

Mission Bake: From Bake Off to Blast Off – Fri 18 Apr

The Easter Baking Show – Fri 18 Apr
